Emergency Care Conference

17th & 18th October 2024

Making Space

Now moving into its third year, this emergency care conference is establishing itself as a go to event for people across emergency care in the UK.

Each event has seen just over 100 nurses, AHPs, doctors, paramedics and others get together to share wins, challenges and some of the great work happening across emergency care.

The event boasts an eclectic mix of speakers and session types from practical 'how to', to high level strategy, people talking about what worked for them and cutting edge evidence for improving patient care. Topics were drawn from a comprehensive set of call for paper submissions as well as some identified keynote speakers.

Attendees consistently said they most valued connection, space and the chance to re-energise with others who 'got' what they'd experienced. They loved the mix of clinical, leadership and wellbeing talks, regular opportunities to mix and network and the fast pace of papers, and of course the conference dinner and celebrations. Recognising where people are at, the pressure facing emergency care and the great work that is being done, this year's conference is all about Making Space - literally, metaphorically and psychologically.

The conference programme will feature invited emergency care experts as well as the best picks from a wide call for papers.

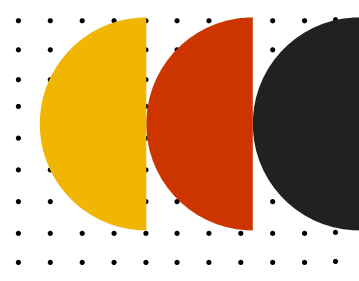

We aim to make space for connection and conversation around ways of working, looking after each other, technology led care, staffing, research and education and much more.

The conference is hosted by Professor Lynda Holt and Professor Brian Dolan OBE, both former ED nurses, and Directors of Health Service 360.

In creating sponsorship opportunities for the conference, the hope is two-fold, to keep the cost down for delegates who are self-funding, and most importantly to create an environment where you can share what you do, how you support emergency care and see what connections bloom.

We hope you can make space to be here.

Emergency Care Conference

17th & 18th October 2024

The Making Space programme is very much still in development and, as such, we are not yet able to announce some high profile speakers - we can say that we will be inviting back some stars from last year, we lined up some exciting keynotes, and the abstracts are flowing in. This year's papers are loosely themed around making literal and psychological space to care.

- Creative ways of working
- Sharing best practice
- Considering specific patient groups – mental health, paediatrics, older people, trauma etc.
- Workplace wellbeing
- Managing aggression
- Climate change as a health emergency
- Dealing with pressures
- Looking after each other
- Clinical Care
- Collaborative working
- Case studies
- Leadership
- Social implications for Emergency Care
- The impact of incivility
